Strengthen the engagement

Enhance sense of security and booking flexibility for users.

Discover with the North Star

"To encourage and provide people the best experience during their journey " is our vision to our customer. AsiaYo is keeping discovering the most desirable living stay to the user for over six years.

But the booking process and related policy have not been updated alongside the fast-growth of the company.

According to the user research result, enhance the booking intention of the user was our first stop.

The Challenge

Accelerate the decision process

Our goal for the project was to increase the sense of security and decrease friction during the booking process. We want to help our user could have more flexibility while planning their trip.

Our high-level goals were to:

- 1. Give customer more time and space to consider the stay which matches their itinerary.
- 2. Create more chance of engagement with the customer.
- 3. Decrease the negative review, poor impression for the customer.

My Role

I responsible for the engagement project between April 2019 to August 2019 and collaborated with one other UI designer on the consumer product and membership center.

Furthermore, I also work with a Researcher, Content Strategist, and Product Manager.

This project released on different stages since April 1st, 2019, and fully launched on August 1st, 2019.

Follow the bread crumb

At the beginning of the project, we didn't have a clear mission or specific goals for the booking experience enhancement. Without previous insights, I partnered with our researcher to explore how Customers were walking the process.

Early Insights from the users

We tested the AsiaYo mobile website and App with 10 participants who they had planned to travel to Taiwan, Japan, Korea, and Thailand in the near six months.

Our goals were to understand the difficulty users faced and the alternative they used.

Inconsistency of experience

The user feels strange when entering a different color/layout payment page, and would easily skip important cancel policy.

The Discovery

Aligned to the Customer experience and expectation

The customer is still got a low branding awareness to AsiaYo. And has few co-operating with famous brand or chain hotel. That led to show most of the assets to the customer, which is they never have seen before or not an attractive stay.

- Hard to compare the quality and price with other options.
- Couldn't find an anchor point when making the purchase decision.
- Lack of social proof and reviews to verify the state.
- Uncertainty from the customer to keep changing the itinerary.

Reducing the Friction

According to the feedback, we would like to help the user have more willing to book stays on our platform. So we want to emphasize its stress-free during the booking process.

I utilized interview material to conclude three different personas and the user journey in mapping the different stage of the decision-making flow. To help us have a clear view of the customer.

I also team up with our data analyst and R&D to dig out more insights from the historical data.

The most confusing part for the consumer.

An unexpected discover from the interview

We found out most of the user would like to collect 3~5 different stays that match their needs. Then book 1 or 2 options after a round of comparison.

But AsiaYo would charge 3% of the room rate for cancel or changing the order fee. This fee would execution no matter how early the order makes.

That makes us can't help to consider the possibility of the genuinely free cancellation.

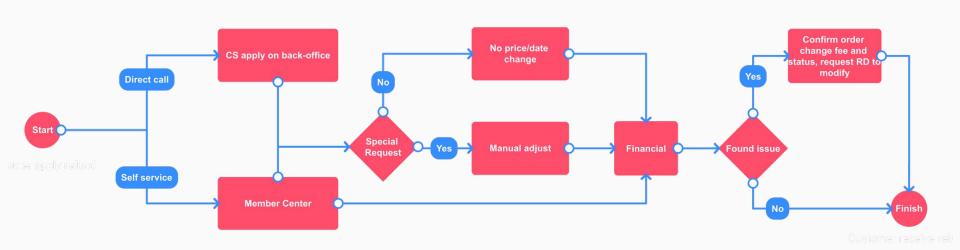

Pick five choices and book two of them for a flexible itinerary.

Competitor Analysis

- 1. Airbnb
 - a. Full refund within 48 hrs, after then would be charged a service fee accordingly.
 - b. Three times a year maximum.
- 2. Booking.com
 - a. Full refund within the cancellation policy date.
- 3. Agoda
 - a. Full refund within the cancellation policy date.
- 4. Ctrip
 - a. Full refund within the cancellation policy date.
- 5. EZ Travel(Taiwan OTA)
 - a. Cancel before 30 days would charge a 5% service fee.

User behavior on booking orders

What we found and learn so far?

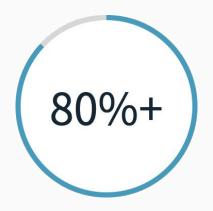

- Most of the host would like to have more space and time to manage order and incoming guests.
- 2. 60%-80% of the user would like to plan, and book stays at least 14-30 days early.
- 3. The cancellation fee had a low revenue share, but it cost us the most valuable staff time and effort to manage it routinely.
- 4. Most of the customer couldn't understand and leave a bad review to complain about the company policy.

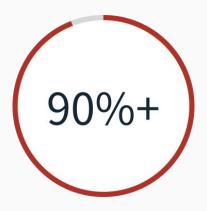

Over 75% of Hosts could apply free cancellation before 14 days booking order.

The revenue share from the cancellation fee was only 0.4% below.

Over 80% of Customers would book order before 14 days.

Over 90% of Customers complain about the strict policy.

Requirement

How might we:

- Help the user to understand the new cancellation policy?
- Increasing the user interest to take further action?
- Help user to know the relation between cancel policy and their desired date?
- Help user could tracking their order to align with the cancellation policy.

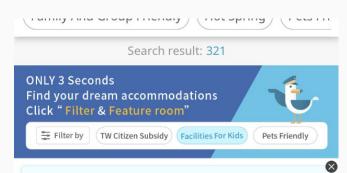

User Story

As a user (Consumer)

- I want to know when and how can I apply free cancellation?
- I want to know which hotel/vacation rental is available for free cancellation during my stays?
- I want to know how many days left could apply free cancellation?
- I want to know clearly about how many cancellation fees I would be charged by the order?

Feedback from Users

It was more clear than before.

It's really useful to see the exact cancel date and time.

It saves me lots of time in exchanging the local time zone.

It's pretty handy for the new looks of the bar chart.

It's more straightforward to understand.

The Impact

The new policy and design get a positive feedback when it rollout.

Although the number of cancel order has slightly increased, but we found the order rejection rate has significantly improved which means we not only optimized the user booking experience but also decreased the cost of the operation.

We still have lots of room would improve user engagement of the booking process.

- The total CVR increased by 17%.
